

371.

All things by God created live for aye.
E'en though their actual form we may not see;
They fill their sphere, they never pass away
Their life affects the world and you and me. 34

372.

We cannot forget you, my loved one so dear,
Your memory grows sweeter year after year;
You cannot return, so my tears are in vain,
But in heaven I am hoping to meet you again. 35

373.

“Greater love hath no man than this,
He laid down his life for his friends. 15

374.

Our hearts cannot tell how we loved him,
Our lips cannot tell what to say,
But God only knows how we miss him
When it comes to Remembrance Day. 29

375.

His toil is past, his work is done,
And he is fully blest;
He fought the fight, the victory won,
and entered into rest. 24

376.

He died as brave men have a chance to die,
Fighting to save a world's mortality;
He died the noblest death that man might die,
Fighting for God and right, and liberty. 32

377.

The golden evening brightens in the west;
Soon, soon to faithful warriors cometh rest;
Sweet is the calm of Paradise the blest. 22

378.

O summer sun, shine kindly there,
O summer wind, blow softly there,
Green sod above, lie light, lie light,
Goodnight, brave heart, goodnight. 23

379.

A helping hand to all he knew,
So kind, so generous and true,
On earth he nobly did his best,
Grant him, Jesus, heavenly rest. 25

380.

They shall not grow old,
As we that are left grow old,
Age shall not weary them,
Nor the years condemn.
At the going down of the sun,
And in the morning
We will remember them. 36

381.

He died the helpless to defend,
A faithful soldier's noble end. 11

382.

All you hoped for, all you had given,
To save mankind—
Yourself you scorned to save. 16
